When men didn't line up at her doorstep for dates, she called it "Cheerleader Syndrome". When she answered one of those annoying little pop-up ads and posted an online profile, her inbox flooded with so many responses her head hurt. In just two years, Stephany was introduced to over 17,000 men on the internet, learned the e-dating Secrets (the hard way)... and became an internationally known e-dating Expert featured on top radio stations, cable and network TV shows, magazines and major daily newspapers across the country.

Stephany began inspiring audiences as a Sales/Recruiting Trainer and Field Development Specialist in the Direct Sales Industry in 1988. Her background in Marketing/Advertising and Media Relations has helped businesses, authors and even prominent politicians enhance their profiles, get more publicity and attract the right target audience.

Now, the best selling author of an e-datingSecrets book series and founder of e-datingExperts.com is on a mission to help ordinary people create irresistible profiles to find love, live love and give love.
